ÖREBRO SLOTT

Castle tours all the year round

Many chapters of Swedish history have been written inside the thick walls of Örebro Castle.

Sweden's first Parliament Act was adopted here, and it was also here that Karl XIII received the news that the 1810 Parliament in Örebro had chosen Jean Baptiste Bernadotte as the heir to the Swedish throne.

The oldest parts of the castle date from the 14th century, and, at the end of the 16th century, Duke Karl, later King Karl IX, transformed the then dilapidated medieval castle into a magnificent Renaissance castle.

Örebro Visitor Centre is located in the castle's southwest tower. The visitor centre provides information and inspiration on everything there is to see and do in Örebro. You can also buy tickets to castle tours and get help booking accommodation. In the shop you'll find souvenirs with connection to Örebro as well as designer Örebro items.

In the summer, there are daily guided tours of Örebro Castle that take you back in time. Listen to stories about the nobility, prisoners and servants, and well-known and little known events in the castle's history. The rest of the year, there are guided tours every Saturday and Sunday.

Easter is Witch Week for both children and adults, and for Halloween, Örebro is transformed into a Ghost Town with zombies roaming the streets and ghosts and other creepiness haunting the castle.

SVAMPEN

A magnificent view

The water tower Svampen (the mushroom) was built 1955-57 and officially opened in May 1958. The designer and architect was Sune Lindström, AB Vattenbyggnadsbyrån Stockholm. Since its opening, Svampen has been one of Örebro's most popular attractions, giving some 8 million visitors the chance to see Örebro from above.

The tower is 58 m high and holds 9 million litres of water. It has a sister tower in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, which is 33% bigger.

Svampen is still used as a water tower, with the water being pumped up into the cap, which acts as a reservoir and pressure equaliser for Örebro's drinking water.

WADKÖPING

Open-air museum

Discover what Örebro used to look like in Wadköping. The open-air museum, which opened in the 1960s, consists of farm buildings that were saved from demolition in central Örebro. Today, it is hard to imagine that the small wooden farmhouses were once Örebro's grandest buildings.

Nowadays, the small houses are home to craft shops, boutiques and museums, and some are also used as dwellings, making Wadköping a vibrant part of Örebro. Enjoy the atmosphere! Relax with a cup of coffee in the square, smell the freshly baked bread from the bakery, watch the wood-turner at work, or visit the exhibitions in Cajsa Wargs Hus (Cajsa Warg's House, former home of the cookbook pioneer) and Kungsstugan (The King's Lodgings) from the 16th century.

There is always something going on in Wadköping, so don't forget to check the calendar on the home page for musical entertainment, summer theatre, puppetry and markets, including the popular Christmas and medieval markets, antiques and bric-a-brac, and the 'turn-of-the-century' market.

ST. NICOLAI CHURCH TÅNGERÅSA CHURCH

Stortorget (the city square) is one of Örebro's most important historical places and the location of St Nicolai Church, the city's main church since the Middle Ages and the place where Jean Baptiste Bernadotte was elected heir to the throne in 1810. The neo-Gothic city hall with its glockenspiel is also in the square.

In Tångeråsa, you can visit one of Sweden's oldest wooden churches.

KARLSLUND

Nature and culture

Karlslund Culture Reserve is a scenic area with a long history, just 5 km from Örebro centre. This idyll has beautiful nature, cultural and industrial history, craft workshops, shops, a garden for children and the technology museum Tekniska Kvarnen.

In Järle, you really can travel in time. The vintage train departs from the small station to the mining community of Pershyttan and the idyllic wooden town of Nora. In fact, Järle is the oldest station in Sweden. It was built in 1854 next to Sweden's first railway line. Vintage trains depart throughout the summer.

SIGHTS

MILITARY MUSEUM

Sannahed

Today, the small community of Sannahed, between Kumla and Hallsberg, is a quiet place, but 100 years ago, it was one of Sweden's largest military practice grounds and barracks. Here you can enjoy a walk on the 2.5 km trail 'Regementsmarschen' (the regiment march).

There is a newly opened equipment store 150 m north of the military museum. The storage building was built for military purposes and as a shop. Today, it is a 19th-century museum with different theme rooms showing how we once lived.

The grand hall that used to be the officers' mess, the Museum of Military History and the cottage of the Hussar officers, which shows what the Hussar Corps barracks were like during the 19th century, are all worth a visit. Kumla-Sannahed's community centre is across the road from the museum.

NATIONAL PARKS AND NATURE RESERVES

Nature is near!

Garphyttan National Park, at the foot of Kilsbergen Mountains, is one of Sweden's oldest national parks. It has old preserved cultivated landscape characterised by stony, hilly terrain, and lush flowering meadows surrounded by dense natural forest. The park also has several hiking trails varying in length and difficulty.

Björka clay pit and the nature reserves of Hult and Viaskogen are near Kumla. The latter reserve offers diverse and sometimes unique species. Visitors can enjoy walks, barbeques and the illuminated jogging track. In Hällabrottet, east of Kumla, there is the unusual limestone plain Norra Mossby and a stone cist.

Skåle Klint Nature Reserve offers fantastic views of the surrounding countryside. Bring a packed lunch and enjoy the scenery from above on a clear day. Skåle Klint is part of the fault scarp that formed the southern shore of Lake Tisaren. Primary rock dominates, forming a majestic area where deep, damp rift valleys cut through the area in several directions. The views from Skåle Klint are fantastic. At its highest point, Skåle Klint reaches a height of 195 m above sea level and about 95 m above the surface of Lake Tisaren! At Skåle farm, on the edge of the hill, farming was still being carried out well into the 1960s, but nowadays the land around the farm is only used for grazing. The area is well equipped for visitors, with car parks, a beach, barbeque areas, etc.

Dovrasjödalen is a popular destination due to its wilderness character, with long, narrow lakes in a deep rift valley in the primary rock.

Herrfallsäng Nature Reserve is a classic habitat with nearly 300 known species of vascular plants.

TIVEDEN

Sweden's southernmost wilderness

In the heart of Sweden, between Gothenburg and Stockholm, lie the great forests of Tiveden. A stone's throw from the crowds, noise, and stress, the silence and tranquillity spread out over one of Sweden's southernmost primeval forests. Great adventures await those who look for enchanted, beautiful scenery with massive rocky blocks, deep mossy valleys, and steep mountain ridges with outcrops. Hike, bike, or go horseback riding between the many lakes, sights, and lush greenery. The discoveries are endless.

Tiveden National Park is one of Sweden's most beautiful parks. It may be largely pathless and inaccessible, but it's also infinitely inviting.

The forest has been allowed to grow without human influence for a very long time. Soft mosses, clear lakes, and breath-taking views surround trails used since ancient times.

As the first municipality in Sweden, Laxå has proclaimed the entire municipality an eco-tourism area. Tiveden National Park, Skagerhultsmossen, Vargavidderna, and Lake Udden are some examples of sights for nature lovers. As an eco-tourism area, tourists in Tiveden are expected to be extra considerate of the sights they come here to enjoy.

THE CITY PARK Örebro

The City Park in Örebro has been named Sweden's most beautiful and ranked fifth in a vote on the most beautiful parks in Europe.

The park has many special areas including the beautiful Blomstergatan and tranquil Klostergården. There is also a rose garden with almost 200 different varieties of roses, and a herb garden with over 100 different kinds of herbs.

In addition, you'll find one of the city's largest playgrounds with a popular paddling pool, which is open during summer. In the summer, you can also enjoy a number of performances, both on the city park stage and in the adjacent Stadsträdgården restaurant and café.

A natural gem

In 2015, Hackvad was named "natural gem of the year" in Örebro County. Hackvad is home to an unusual large number of drumlins. Oval and elongated, the drumlins were formed as glacial ice retreated about 12,000–13,000 years ago. The area also has plenty of large oaks with a rich flora and fauna. Many of the plants in Hackvad are those favoured by grazing animals. Hackvad's unusual geology and cultural environment are of national interest.

WILDLIFE Birds and snakes

Tysslingen is a swan lake without equal – Europe's largest single resting area for swans. Thousands of swans come here on their way north to regain their strength before continuing their journey. In spring, up to 4,000 birds can be seen in a single day.

Alnängarna Water Park is an oasis of tranquillity within walking distance of the city. It has hiking trails, barbecue areas and much more. In the midst of the greenery is the popular Naturens Hus (nature house) with a restaurant and café. Further east, Hjälmarsstranden with its nature reserves Rynningeviken and Oset has some of the best bird-watching areas in Sweden.

Kvismaren, southeast of Örebro, is a classic bird lake with great diversity of species. In the autumn, visitors can see more than 10,000 cranes gather here on their way south. Next to Kvismaren in Öby Kulle, hundreds of grass snakes can be spotted basking in the sun in early spring.

Björka Vissberga clay pit is a 30-hectare nature reserve. A trail takes you around the old clay pit and from the bird tower, you can closely watch the wildlife.

In Kumla you can combine nature, culture and science with a cycle ride that takes you past 25 sculptures by prominent Swedish sculptors. There are also five leisure and MTB trails in Kvarntorp's open-air recreation area, and a number of road cycle routes are planned.

BERGÖÖS

Museum, art and trains

Artist Karin Larsson, born in Hallsberg, worked in the shadow of her famous husband Carl Larsson. But with her elegant furnishings and beautiful textiles, Karin Larsson was far ahead of her time. Some of Karin's creations, furniture as well as paintings, are on display in her parents' home, Bergööska Huset. You may recognise some of the items, though you might not have known who was behind them.

The largest room is decorated with Karin's husband Carl's impressive murals of the Bergöö family and Hallsberg at the time.

On the first floor you find an art gallery with exhibitions from May-September and every summer there is a larger exhibition at Bergöös, see website for more information.

ART ON HIGH

Kvarntorpshögen, Kumla

Kvarntorpshögen is Sweden's most unusual industrial monument. So unusual, in fact, that it placed number one in the book "Sweden's 100 most unusual sights". The hot slag, formed when oil was extracted from slate during World War II, created a pile over 100 m high. The pile is now a popular excursion and an unusual setting for the sculpture exhibition "Konst på hög" (art on a heap).

The unique sculpture park, set on top of the slag heap, displays works by many of Sweden's leading artists, including Lars Vilks, Peter Johansson, Ulla Viotti, and Lenny Clarhäll. You'll also find a coffee shop, serving snacks and salads. Almost every year, a new work of art is added to the collection. Kvarntorpshögen also offers a magnificent view of the Närke plain.

"Stilla rörelse" av Maria Miesenberger

Since the opening in 1998, "Konst på hög" has attracted considerable media attention, including the Hollywood-inspired artwork "JOHANSSON" by Peter Johansson. You can reach the exhibition by car, but why not combine culture with exercise? One of the artworks is a 200 m wooden staircase with 427 steps. Take on the challenge "Beat the staircase", which involves climbing the steps 10 times in 5 hours. Learn more at www.besegratrappan.se. During winter, you'll find a ski slope here and wonderful ski trails in the open-air recreation area.
